

STUDIES IN POPULAR CULTURE

FALL 2008

31.1

---

- v From the Editor: Popular Culture of the Past
- 1 From Apicius to Gastroporn: Form, Function, and Ideology in the History of Cookery Books
Abigail Dennis
- 19 Queer Investigations: Foxy Ladies and Dandy Detectives in American Dime Novels
Pamela Bedore
- 39 Literary Art in an Age of Formula Fiction and Mass Consumption: Double Coding in Arthur Conan Doyle's "The Blue Carbuncle"
Nils Clausson
- 55 Lost Girl: Diminishing Dorothy of Oz
Sydney Duncan
- 69 The Protean Character of Jello, Icon of Food and Identity
Susan Grove Hall
- 81 Gazing on Fu-Manchu: Obscurity and Imperial Crisis in the Work of Sax Rohmer
Rebecca Wingfield
- 99 "To Renew the Old World": Record Collecting as Cultural Production
Kevin Moist
- 123 Book Reviews

- 123 Fandom: Identities and Communities in a Mediated World. Ed. Jonathan Gray, Cornel Sandvoss, and C. Lee Harrington. (rev. Tanya Cochran)
- 125 Footsteps in the Dark: The Hidden Histories of Popular Music. By George Lipsitz. (rev. Edward J. Whitelock)
- 126 Television in the Multichannel Age: A Brief History of Cable Television. By Megan Mullen. (rev. Jeffrey Bussolini)
- 129 Contributors